The government will provide benefits of 100, 200 and 500 ringgit cash assistance to immigrants for a period of six months, said Tan Sri Muhyiddin Yassin on Monday. The assistance includes food supplements, financial support to purchase household items, rent assistance and assistance to individuals who qualify for income assistance and relief for families. The amount of cash assistance will be determined according to the subsidy which is being given by the Federal Government. For example, if the daily allowance for the family is RM250, then the family of three people will get up to RM750, said Muhyiddin. "In addition to this, the government will also provide financial assistance to the homebuyers of three flats under the Housing for Permanency and Gather-Up programme," he said. Under the scheme, a family will be able to obtain housing loan to help the family to settle in Malaysia for a period of six months. "The monthly assistance will be based on the percentage of the housing loan," Muhyiddin said, adding that the cash assistance will be provided in a lump sum to the immigrants. The Love Interest has permission to edit the info inside his character's head. Nikkatsu's lavish samurai film, KATANA (SOUND-DUBBING VER.) is heading to a new destination after digitally restored in HD. The restoration of this classic movie has now been completed, and is undergoing approval with the Japanese Film Agency. The completed transfer will be shown at next year's Tokyo International Film Festival, where the film will be received as the best picture of the fest. The film has had a new remaster made by the same team who first re-mastered AKAGUICHI [The Ghost-Sweeper], which also featured the Japan-no-bi Drama, by the same studio, and was re-mastered by the same team, and so now this film is ready to be remastered with the same team. The 35mm, sound-film in olde Japanese theater was carefully, meticulously preserved for the new transfer, and with the pristine quality, viewers will feel as if they are watching the film as it was originally made. Artistic Documentary Director, Hideo Matsumoto, joined us at the press conference. "A wonderful, well-made film. No matter how many times it is shown, you will be surprised that something so simple has been made." Director Shinji Ueda stated, "The color of my final cut is still too bright for my taste, but I'm really looking forward to the high quality you are going to see when the film comes to screen." Mr. Kunio Watanabe (Producer of KATANA) said, "I am very pleased that this film is now ready for release. I feel it is worthy to be played for those who have not seen this film before, and as well as it being seen at the film festival. A remastering team who understand the original films cultural importance should be chosen." The film is very popular in Japan and will be screened again in a couple of years. I am sure you will enjoy it when it comes to theaters. Fujio Hayasaka, a master actor and co-director of the popular TV drama, Bodacious Space Pirates [Space Amoeba], passed away today. The statement from the Directors office of ATRA described him as "a world famous actor and a wise and funny teacher who greatly influenced my childhood." He was only 58 years old. ## What's new in Wonky Ship:

for Dead or Alive 5 Last Round. I'll post a couple of pics. I'm going to try to sew one next Sunday, and if I have time I'll post pics. A lil' tweaking will be required. My other idea is to decorate a Halloween costume. DH has found my avatar here. My intention is to dig out my dress/suit from last year, invest in a few new things, and make a revamp of the "fuzzy" look. We're planning on going to the Dead or Alive Halloween cruise in Melbourne, Australia, and I think it's a pretty high brow event. Mum was just telling me about the "furry/edgy" costume on pinset. I think I prefer the "furry" thing. It seems to capture what I'm going for. Thoughts? I took a Katsucon costume that my dad ordered back from Australia and basically took the fur and blood out of it and did some to the shirt. It was 7 bucks. Somewhat expensive for what ended up as a gypsy kind of thing but it fit the theme of my avatar and I don't think anyone would have questioned it. Of course I'll be borrowing 'Han' armor LOL Ha! As someone who's had to do a lot of upcycling, I can tell you that beading, specifically, is a LOT of fun and easily repurposed and re-done if need be. There are some things that'll never go back in the style category (gas station toilets for example), but most, if not all, things with an industrial hookback style, rivet, button, etc are all doable. Vintage necklaces will of course take endless patience and years of access to, but I love mine. I have two, one over each shoulder, and there's the long one hanging as a necklace. My second one is vintage ribbon, colored with markers, and it's a replica of the one I wore all through my youth. Which I made for another Katsu. Hi all! I just wanted to say hello, and to wish you all a wonderful day! Onward Party Warriors, Grymm, Crystal and Mewina Wyvern, Pearls, Tux, and Delia Fat Princess is STILL wearing the same dress for obvious reasons. The sword has been detented for a moment in the interests of modernity.
