Thank You for your help. :D. I finally managed to get all of my custom workbooks to open in 2011 format... but I was also unsuccessful with getting them to save as 2007 format. Is there something that I'm missing or not doing properly? Or is there a way to tell Excel to open a file as the 2007 format? I really don't want to reformat to 2007 (which I would have to do) to add the macros I want into my files. A: Well, I think that's a CanDo issue, I don't have a Mac and haven't had the opportunity to try it, I could be wrong, or there may be some other reason it won't work on a Mac, but from what I recall it should work fine. However, I'm not 100% sure, so you might want to try. Another way is to go to the properties of the workbook, and do a conversion and then save. For example, I have my date format going to be yyyyymmdd so I can do it like that, and it works great for me. Your format might be similar. Keetongu River The Keetongu River is a river of Guyana, flowing through the Demerara-Mahaica, Essequibo Islands-West Demerara and Tunapuna-Piarco Regions. The Keetongu River has a spring near the mouth where it meets the Rahway River. Tributaries include the Manawasan (Rahway River), Artertogu River, Nawankali River, Musirani River, Irropati River, Uwaketi River, Mafatta River, and the Purwakasi River. When I press a button to make it play, the animation plays once then keeps playing even after the script changes the state. I get this behavior with any kind of animation - it's playing once, then it keeps playing until I restart the app. When I use the debug.Log and using a Debug.Log to track the animation, it tracks that it's changing all the time. It seems like the update function isn't being called, even though the animation did play the first time. Here's my script: using UnityEngine; using System.Collections; using UnityEngine.UI; using UnityEngine.EventSystems; public class animationTest : MonoBehaviour { AnimationController _myAnimationController; Animator anim; void Start () { _myAnimationController = gameObject.AddComponent(); anim = _myAnimationController.animation; } public void StateChange() { Debug.Log ("Current State: " + anim.currentState); if (anim.currentState
